

1st Circular on the 12th JKISM

WELCOME ADDRESS

On behalf of the Japanese Society for Bacteriology (JSB), it is my great pleasure to invite you to the 12th Japan-Korea International Symposium on Microbiology (JKISM), which will be held on 24th (Monday) and 25th (Tuesday) of March, 2014 at Funabori in Tokyo. The Japan-Korea (or Korea-Japan) International Symposium on Microbiology has been a biennial scientific meeting between two countries since 1991. I would like to express my sincere appreciation to the all Japanese and Korean colleagues for their contribution to the past symposiums for almost quarter a century. I believe that the joint symposium has greatly contributed to not only the development of science in the field of microbiology, but also to the friendly relationship between the two countries.

The symposium at Funabori will focus on reviewing several topics, including infectious diseases transmitted by arthropod, genomics and proteomics in microbiology, vaccines against bacterial infection and pathogenesis of bacterial infection. And Prof. Hyon E. Choy of Chonnam National University will give a special lecture. In addition, the symposium will have a poster session, where young scientists in both countries are encouraged to present their data. The 12th JKISM will be held on the previous day of the 87th annual congress of JSB at the same venue from 26th to 28th of March, 2014. I would like to recommend Korean participants of the 12th JKISM to attend the JSB congress, where English will be used in the session (such as International Symposium) including foreign speakers.

I hope all participants will enjoy the scientific program and make pleasant memories of staying in Tokyo, including Tokyo Solamachi at the base of the Tokyo Skytree, a new landmark of Tokyo. Again it is our great honor to have you in the symposium, and we look forward to seeing you at Funabori.

Sincerely yours

Koichi Kuwano, M.D., Ph.D.

President, 12th Japan-Korea International Symposium on Microbiology (JKISM)

Director, Japanese Society for Bacteriology (JSB)

Professor and Director, Department of Infectious Medicine,
